New Community, New Way of Life

The Christian Church appeared in history not only bringing a new teaching and worship of God, but also as a newly organized community. Its goal is the inclusion of humanity. God established the Church as a new paradise, as a "world within the world," in order to attract the people of the world and save them from sin and injustice. The Church resembles the Ark of Noah, which did not sink with the world, but rather saved the people who were in it from the floods of sin and death.

The purpose of the Church as God's New Community is to redeem, sanctify, and deify its members, to make them truly members of the Body of Christ. "As many of you as have been baptized into Christ, put on Christ" we chant in Baptism, the Sacrament that initiates us in God's New Community, the Church. Repeatedly we ask the candidates for Baptism to renounce Satan, the evil ruler of this world, and to acknowledge Christ, the Founder and Savior of the New Community. All those who believe, accept, and commit their total lives to Christ are saved. They are incorporated in His Body and are fed continuously with His Divine Grace.

As a new Community, the Church takes the place of the old world and teaches its members new ways to relate to people around them. Inspired by the example of Christ and motivated by His love for us, the early Christians gave us two models of Community. After Pentecost, the Christians of Jerusalem held everything in common, as is the practice in the cenobitic monasteries. When Christianity spread among the Gentiles, the Christians continued participating in the Lord's Supper and sharing the Love Feast after Holy Communion. In addition, they collected the "logia," the "offerings," and sent them to the poor Christians of the Church in Jerusalem.

Christianity does not only care about the spiritual needs of its members, but also about their material needs. There was always a Philoptochos – a philanthropic spirit in the New Community – which responded to the needs of the faithful. The benevolent institutions we support today had their beginnings in the Church. The new Pan-Orthodox philanthropic institution – IOCC (International Orthodox Christian Charities) is a praiseworthy example of our response to our suffering and indigent brothers and sisters in other lands. It deserves our wholehearted support, together with the other philanthropic organizations of our Church.

As members of the Church, our words and deeds, our total behavior, are motivated and colored by our faith in Christ, who loved us and gave His life to save us. Our example must be Christian at all times, so that others will be attracted to Christ and become members of His New Community.

With love,

Fr. J.P. Angelis

Parish Council Corner

Common Denominators

Xristos Anesti! Christ Has Risen!

I have entered my final year of a 3 year term, as a Parish Council Member of our Holy Trinity Cathedral. When I accepted the nomination, I had some reservations. But quickly realized it was the right choice. Serving this community has been a pleasure. Working side by side with my fellow members has been an educational and fulfilling journey. They are a great group of people that I can call friends. As a group, we strive to make the right decisions which ultimately will benefit our community.

We all share common denominators that bind us to our Church. They are Faith and Family. Our Church is a place where we come together to worship, pray and to give thanks for all the blessings in our lives. It is a place where we practice our Faith's Sacraments. We gather with our friends and families to share our weekly experiences and to celebrate various events. I'm guessing that most of you experience the same feelings that I experience when I'm leaving Church on any given Sunday. It's a sense of fulfillment, a sense of calm, and yet a sense of newly found energy. It's always a joy to watch the children of our Parish, come together for the same reasons. Many of us have busy schedules, but no matter how difficult or challenging of a week we have, it seems that by going to Church, those challenges become more manageable.

The second denominator I mention is family. I grew up in a community where many of my life's activities revolved around Church. Some activities that we shared were Basketball, Greek School, Boy Scouts, Goya, Sunday School, Greek Dance, and yes, even bowling. What better environment is there to have your children be part of than that of our Church? Being a father of 3 children, I think about their future all the time. I look back to what factors shaped me, where I came from, and the experiences and influences that developed who I am today. My family and my Faith are two cornerstones in my life. I have realized the value of growing up so close to my Church, and I hope to provide the same foundation for my children.

I pray that Holy Trinity will remain strong and vibrant. I want it to be here for my children, and my children's children. I want them to develop strong and positive values, and let our Orthodox faith guide them. Holy Trinity is a great community, with the potential of being greater. We need to take ownership and pride in what we have. Let's be generous in giving back. The common denominator not only unites us, but provides us the opportunity to serve our community as well. In the spirit of love and faith, let's continue to reach out, volunteer and help with the growing needs of our Church.

Faithfully,

Steve Kosaris

Treasurer's Corner

Jace Thompson

Greetings again to all and Christos Anesti! Spring is certainly a time for renewal, and change, and that is indeed the case with me being offered the opportunity to (re)join the Parish Council as Treasurer last month. I humbly accepted the offer and am now setting to work getting back up to speed on your parish's financial business.

To kick things off, I would like to give you a brief snapshot of how we are fairing as we closed out the first 3 months of 2010. The year is young, but in a nutshell, I see we are trending fairly typically against our budget. Note that the large share of Pascha income is not included in this YTD snapshot.

continually getting blindsided with "emergency needs" of funds to address the large pool of deferred maintenance across our campus. Today, we have a dedicated fund, that comes from a portion of the Festival proceeds, as well as a focused maintenance committee that has the charter to move ahead proactively to address the needs of our physical assets.

Secondly, I am encouraged to see that through the economic downturn last year, our stewards rightly kept their focus on giving their best gift to their church. I also see however, that our longstanding goal of clearing our entire operating budget through stewardship alone remains just that, a goal. In fact, our stewardship growth rate remains the largest barrier against the goals that we have as a cathedral, and a community. My family has been impacted by the financial pressures of the past couple of years as well, but I encourage you to strive, as we are striving, to put forward your first gifts to the church. A small increase by all of us, say, $200/year as a goal, would finally give us powerful options.

In general, I am very encouraged to see that we have made a lot of significant progress in getting ahead of our maintenance issues. My prior time as treasurer was severely burdened with balancing the operating funds required to run our parish while Options to grow or ignite new ministries, enhance services to our community, expand our campus footprint, fund scholarships, etc. I see a lot of energy in the parish, and want to be able to feed that energy through resource readiness.

I will be focused this year, along with your very dedicated parish council, in bringing you the information you need to feel confident in making that type of stewardship commitment to your church. Together, as in the past, we can do great things working as one. As always, please feel free to contact me with any questions by email at jacethompson@hotmail.com or by note to the church office.

Good News means Good Works Ahead!

Exclaim "Christ is Risen!"- Cheer comes instantly to the moment. "Truly He is risen!" -- A bond of faith and assurance is affirmed. The Good News is declared.

This eternal bond of faith and assurance has inspired Holy Trinity parishioners to shed trepidation in a still unsettled economy. Parts of the world have suffered calamities and we responded through Orthodox Christian Charities. We have assisted missionary in our midst, Anthony Aivaliotis, as he brings good works of the Lord to Latin America. We listened to the good news of the spiritual rebirth of an entire nation as missionary Pamela Barksdale described the work of her Bishop in Albania.

Perhaps it was 2010's early Lent and Holy Week that prompted greater giving to Holy Trinity as well: We followed the accounts of the life of Christ, the events that led to the Greatest Sacrifice of all. Like the good and faithful servant, we took the resources He gave us and flourished through our own stewardship program.

Reports from our first quarter show we are making great progress toward reaching our goal of supporting fully the operation and the ministries of the parish through our own sacrifices, cheerfully given through the year. Like a Paschal season greeting card to the church, your written hopeful wish of support can come to the office on a Stewardship Pledge Card. If you hesitated to send it in January or February, ponder no more and let us know of your intent so the parish council may make educated decisions going forward with planning. Your pledge is not a legal commitment, but a sign of your cheerful hope for good works ahead. Thus, Good News is further declared!

Raffle tickets are also available on Sundays after church. There are a very limited number of tickets available and first prize is $5000! Please help us reach our goals so we can continue to fund both the exhibitions and the cultural events.

News from Ahepa

The second of four regional AHEPA banquets took place at the Marriott Hotel, Portland, Oregon on March 6, 2010. The purpose of these banquets is to allow the Order of Ahepa the opportunity to honor outstanding individuals from throughout the United States for their contributions to their professions. Present that evening was Ahepa Supreme President Nicholas Karacostas, all of the members of the Supreme Lodge, and Supreme Governors from throughout the country. It was an honor to introduce the Honorable Ioannis Andreades, Consul General of Greece in San Francisco. We welcomed him to Portland and asked him to make a few remarks.

That evening Supreme President Karacostas announced the $250,000 donation from E. John Rumpakis to initiate the Portland State University Hellenic Studies Program. Karacostas also presented E. John with the Ahepa Supreme President Award of Excellence in recognition of his untiring efforts in preserving and promoting Hellenism in the United States. Over the years, E. John has received numerous awards and has been recognized as a leader in the Real Estate industry.

Also honored that evening was Oregon Senator Ron Wyden who was present to receive the Ahepa Paul E. Tsongas Award for Public Service. Oregon Congressman Earl Blumenauer was also present to receive the Ahepa Pericles Award. Both men praised the Order of Ahepa and commented on their long relationship with the Greek community of Portland. It was also a pleasure to recognize other outstanding individuals who excelled in their professions. Honored that evening was Dr. Harry Anastasiou, Professor of International Peace and Conflict Studies, Conflict Resolution Graduate Program, Portland State University. He was awarded the Ahepa Academy of Achievement Award in Academics. Anastasiou is an international peace scholar and has received inter-national recognition for his leadership in his field.

Other notable people who received recognition that night were: Steve Frangos, West Chicago, Illinois, who is a free-lance feature writer for an array of Greek-American newspapers and magazines. Mr. Frangos received the Ahepa Academy of Achievement Award in Journalism;

Mr. Kostas Mallios, Seattle, Washington, who is Microsoft's Senior Director of the Office of the Chief Technical Officer and Rich Media Group. Supreme President Karacostas presented Mr. Mallios with the Ahepa Achievement Award in Business; Dr. Thalia Papayannopoulou, Professor of Medicine in the Division of Hematology, University of Washington. She was presented the Ahepa Academy of Achievement Award in Medicine; Dr. George Stamatoyannopoulos, Professor of Medicine and head of the Division of Medical Genetics and Genome Science and Adjunct Professor of Pathology at the University of Washington. One area of his research focuses on the genetics of the Minoans of Ancient Crete and the Mycenaens of mainland Greece. Dr. Stamatoyannopoulos was unable to attend the banquet but his wife Dr. Thalia Papayannopoulou accepted the Ahepa Academy of Achievement Award in Medicine on his behalf.

Portland State to Celebrate Hellenic Studies Program

Please join Portland State University President Wim Wiewel on June 21st at 5pm to celebrate the creation of Portland State's Hellenic Studies Program and to congratulate E. John Rumpakis, whose generosity will allow PSU to strengthen the relationship between our region and the people, culture, and businesses of Greece and the Greek Diaspora. The celebration will take place at the Simon Benson House, 1803 Southwest Park Avenue (Southwest 9th and Montgomery). To RSVP, call 503.725.3514 or email sfuller@pdx.edu.
